Ambition Belonging Courage

In drawing club this week...

This is a folk tale involving a traveller family and especially a little girl called Ossiri who makes a musical instrument that brings her good fortune but is not so lucky for others. As with all good tales there are goodies and baddies and of course a creature that lives in a cave.

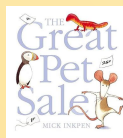

Information:

The children will continue to get to know their new classrooms and the adults they will be working with informally over the next few weeks.

In maths this week...

We have used our maths skills to work with money. Linked to the story of 'The great pet sale' we have explored ways of making 5p. Looked at the different coins and pretended to go shopping. We have continued to think about more and less and to recognise the numbers to 10 and beyond. This story led us to think about counting in 2s and 5s which was exciting.

This week ...

It has been another busy and exciting week. We have had the extreme weather to cope with and the children started the process of transition (though their teachers and the school have been working on this for a long time). The children had a lovely morning in their new classes and returned to us happy and full of questions. We have spent the week making our own musical instruments and making 'music!' All while trying to keep as cool as possible!

How to help at home...

Just because the transition to year 1 process has now started try not to get too hung up on it. Year 1 is still a long way off and the children need to enjoy their EYFS time. Encourage your child to think about and possibly record things they have enjoyed this year to build firm memories of their first year in school. Keep these thoughts safe somewhere, your child will love these memories when they are older.
