Local events November - February

A - Z of Sport & Leisure • Childcare • Education • Parties • Holiday Schemes • Support • and more...

The Crawley & Horsham winter 2020 issue is a little bit late to the party, being uploaded in mid, rather than early, November; however, that means that I know that November is basically a write-off in terms of Things to Do and Places to Go, which is something I didn't know when I printed my own, now rather-overly-optimistic-about-events-in-November, Mid Sussex Family Grapevine winter 2020 magazine - ah well, you can't win them all...

I am currently just caretaking the Crawley & Horsham edition, so if you think you can see yourself having a nice little smiley photo just to the left here, writing a bit of blurb like this and promoting local businesses via the magazine and social media, then please have a look at the further information on page 6 and drop me a line via one of the links below if you would like to know more - I look forward to hearing from you.

Many thanks to the advertisers who have placed adverts with the Crawley and Horsham Family Grapevine this issue. Please do support your local businesses; they are a very hard working bunch who have had a really rough time recently and, now more than ever, they would love to hear from you.

Messy Play Matters by Whoosh Learning

2020 has been an extremely challenging and difficult year, and for many this challenge continues as we approach the Christmas season.

When everything stopped back in March, many baby and toddler groups closed their doors and have been unable to reopen due to struggles with venues, lack of clarity of whether they are allowed to reopen, and for some it just hasn't been financially viable.

These groups are hugely valuable in the community for both children and parents. Parents get some of their greatest support from sharing toddler moments and hearing that others experience these too, and for children they learn to leave their parent's side for a moment because they feel it is safe to do so. Without these groups running, many of our little ones haven't ever experienced a baby / toddler group, they haven't socialised with other children and played alongside others, and it has left some families in our communities feeling isolated. I have fought hard to reopen my business over the last few months, ensuring I am COVID secure, but also maintaining my beliefs as an early years educator. I reopened in September and WHOOSH...it is a JOY to be back!

We are living in extraordinary times. We are living through a period of change and even though we are learning to adapt, from the moment they are born our children continue to be natural explorers. They have a natural urge to move and explore, sensory seek, they want to touch everything, put things in their mouth, explore different ways of moving, or maybe even experiment with noise! Sensory / messy exploration is therefore vital for children's development through stimulating the 5 senses and giving the child the opportunity to repeat and rehearse. Learning by 'doing' is exciting and it also allows us to create meaning. By giving your child time to explore and get messy in a safe environment it will support them to discover, examine and make sense of the world around them.

In my opinion... MESSY PLAY MATTERS!

Sensory play has many other benefits for young children including:

- supporting language development – playing with different textures helps to build a new way of talking about their world and helps develop sensory attributes eg hot, cold, sticky, dry etc.
- helping to coordinate fine motor skills – these are important for writing, shoe-tying, buttoning, and zipping, among other things. Sensory play often incorporates exploring using pinching/ pouring/ scooping.
- problem solving skills and cognitive growth
- developing social interaction with other children and playing with caregivers
- developing memory function
- building nerve connections within the developing brains neural pathways
- play is open ended - the play can lead anywhere therefore imagination and creativity is enhanced
- great for calming children (and parents). During sessions parents often comment how calming it is to run your hands through the rainbow rice!
- and of course, it is fun!

So, whether it's rainbow rice, trucks in foam, coloured ice, spaghetti worms or cotton wool snow...grab these early play experiences and embrace them! I guarantee you and your child will have fun exploring together, and at the same time it will support your child's sensory development and allow them the freedom to express themselves through creative and imaginative play.

Whoosh Learning is based in West Sussex and offers a range of services including messy play sessions for parents and children, messy play parties and messy play packs delivered to you at home. Explorative play and engaging the whole body through different sensory experiences underpin everything we believe in at Whoosh. We produce creative, imaginative and active experiences for parents and children to enjoy, explore and learn together both in indoor and outdoor environments. If you are interested in finding out more about us, then please visit our website: www.whooshlearning.co.uk and also check out our blog to see messy play themes and resources to support play at home. You can also find Whoosh on Facebook @whooshlearning or Instagram @whoosh_learning.

These Christmas Biscuits make perfect presents and can also be made into eye-catching Christmas tree decorations.

Makes 36 biscuits

Preparation time is less than 30 mins

Cooking time is 8 - 10 mins

Ingredients

- 100g/3½oz unsalted butter at room temp
- 100g/3½oz caster sugar
- 1 free-range egg, lightly beaten
- 1 tsp vanilla extract
- 275g/10oz plain flour

To decorate

- 400g/14oz icing sugar
- 3-4 tbsp water
- 2-3 drops food colourings
- Edible glitter

Method

- Preheat the oven to 190C/375F/Gas Mark 5. Line a baking tray with greaseproof paper.
- Cream the butter and sugar together in a bowl until pale, light and fluffy.
- Beat in the egg and vanilla extract, a little at a time, until well combined.
- Stir in the flour until the mixture comes together as a dough.
- Roll out the dough on a lightly floured surface to a thickness of 1cm/½in.
- Using biscuit cutters, cut shapes out of the dough and place onto the baking tray. To make into Christmas tree decorations, make a hole in the top of the biscuit using a straw.
- Bake the biscuits for 8-10 minutes, or until pale golden-brown. Set aside to harden for 5 minutes, then cool on a wire rack.

For the icing

- Sift the icing sugar into a large mixing bowl and stir in enough water to create a smooth mixture. Stir in the food colouring.
- Carefully spread the icing onto the biscuits using a knife and sprinkle over the glitter. Set aside until the icing hardens.
